PRAYER PROFESSIONAL COUNSELING 2

Abstract

Because religion or spirituality is important to many people, mental health workers need to be aware of the issues surrounding each so that they can better help their clients. However, many mental health workers do not have a large part in the lives of many people. Instead, they are often a part of their therapy. Instead, mental health workers need to be aware of the ethical guidelines surrounding these issues. Also, they should be educated in when and how to incorporate spiritual treatment methods into therapy and then strive to remain updated on these topics.

No indent

Abstract heading is not bold; it is centered at top of page 2.

The Abstract is typically between 150-250 words, depending upon the paper requirements. It should be an accurate, concise, objective, and specific summary of the whole paper without evaluation or opinion.
